are reduced. Suggestions are reasonable in relation to the improvement of state support of financing of agrarian production from application of stimulant instruments both to financial institutions and to the agrarian producers.

Keywords. State support for banks, investment, insurance, agricultural receipts, farming.

Agricultural production is functioning in times of economic instability. The State, through appropriate tools and instruments, carries out activities of funding of agricultural production entities to ensure the effective functioning of the agricultural sector, production of competitive products and guarantee the food security.

The state support for agricultural production in economy may be direct, opportunistic direct and indirect. Agricultural production is supported by worldwide because of its state of development depends on a whole as food safety as stability of the main field of farmers - food industry.

Today farmers have no opportunity to accumulate their own working capital for the effective development of strategically important for the country industry - agricultural production. This is caused due to the devaluation of national currency, high cost of credits and other economic problems, which are borne by the industry.

There are the following ways to improve state support funding of the agricultural production in Ukraine: stimulating of credit instruments of providing incentives of agricultural production by establishing agricultural cooperative banks, which will provide favorable conditions for the growth of the agricultural sector.

Financial institutions that provide the financing of producers must have developed state program of preferential taxation.

Credit institutions must develop special loan products for farmers that would ensure and satisfy their needs of additional financial resources; improving the system of financial institutions to provide the leasing.
